STANDARD PIANOS

I NQUESTIONABLY

THE PIANO OF THE DAY! -:-

The W. W. Kimball Company of Chicago are already obliged to build an addition to their factory. It is to be five stories high, 40x210, and is to cost $30,000.

The addition to the factory is to secure greater facilities for the plano department, which has become imperative on account of the largely increased demand for the Kimball planos. The present facilities are pianos. The present facilities are sufficient for an output of 3000 intruments a year.

In view of the persistent efforts to nalign and decry the Kimball piano, his fact is very significant. It shows hat the dealers who handle the PIANOS want more of them than they pianos want more of them than they can get, it shows that there is a demand for them on the part of the public.

With the public at his back, Mr. Kimball can well afford to view with supreme contempt, even the strongest efforts to injure his business, not to speak of the stilly and puny ones that have so far been put forward.

with Minister Egan. Bitter Feeling Against Americans Stil Prevails—A Wild Rumor That Bal-maceda is Not Dead

By Telegraph to The Times.

SANTIAGO (Chile.,) Oct. 19.—[By Ca ble and Associated Press. It is offi-cially stated that the government will issue safe conducts to those persons who have taken refuge in the American and Spanish Legations. The government has recognized the right of asylum in a letter to Mr. Ugan, United States Minister. The Spanish Minister is acting in conjunction with Mr. Egan. The sailor of the U. S. S. Baltimore killed by Chilean sailors in a street brawl a few days ago, was burled at Valparaiso today. There was no hostile demonstration of any kind. An armed force of Americans from the Baltimore were landed, and they attended the funeral unmolested. Another of the Bal-timore sailors, cruelly wounded in the timore satiors, cruelly wounded in the same fight, will probably die. Capt. Sehley and the local authorities are investigating the cause of the killing. It has already been ascertained that the Chilean mob made an attack on the Americans. The Chileans were all armed with knives and pistols, whereas the Americans had but few weapons, and were slow in using them.

Chilean sailors and boatmen and others about the water front still show a relentlessly bitter feeling toward Americans, and make all manner of threats. The better class of Chileans has the brutal attack and heartily condemn the brutal attack, and

In the Midst of Peace We Have no Peace!

The equinoctial storm contending with county fairs: Chile threatening to walk knee-deep in snow and mud this fall, which is Chile's spring, and with bent of animus for Minister Egan's omicial scalp; an earth-quake in the Ohio Valley, that, aroused people from their beds at midnight; Central America on the eve of another revolution, and Hayti probably "laying low" for the one that always comes; storms predicted by the New York Herald for the lake region; railroads gouging "lost" freight cars to load with the greatest of all grain harvests; gold coming from Europe on many steamers coming from Europe on many steamers and many millions more to follow later on: China with a domestic disturbance to deal with which may involve 500,000,000 quues; European rulers building navies which will fly the flag of peace over such engines of de-struction as were never before seen in this world—and yet these are piping times of peace. Truly, in the midst of peace we have no peace, or rest. What shall we do:

Something More About the New Coast Line Railroad.

Col. Crocker's Pathetie Reference to Southern Pacific Pockets.

The Bonds That Have Been Floated

in Europe. nal has Reached the Ocean-What the Santa Fe Is-General, Local and Personal Mention.

The Southern Pacific officials who ave just completed an inspection trip of all the lines south of San Francisco bave arrived at general headquarters. To a press correspondent in that city Col. C. F. Crocker last evening made some statements relative to the completion of the coast line road which may be considered significant. The work of closing the gap, he said, would cost, including equipments, $45,000 per mile. He did not think that it would pay interest on the bonds if they were sold, and yet the work is one which the the work is one which the the company would be glad to undertake and may do so before long. "We will not begin until we are ready to go at it along the line wherever there is heavy work to be encountered. I hope for and expect a large influx of immigration here and the sinch prices as warrant the investment of capital. When that time comes we can build a branch line without putting our hands in our pocket, as we are now compelled to do in order to pay for its construction."

A RENDRED MILLIONS IN BONDS.

A HUNDRED MILLIONS IN BONDS.

One of the members of the Southern Pacific inspection party which recently visited this section was Edgar Speyer a member of the banking firm having establishments in several European cities. It is said, that the Speyers have sold more Southern Pacific bonds than any otner, firm of brokers in the world. To an Examiner reporter Mr. Speyer is quoted as saying

To an Examiner reporter Mr. Speyer is quoted as saying:

My tour has been partly for business and partly for pleasure. For twenty years our firms have been interested in this property, and I do not think I mention too high a figure when I say that our houses in New York, London, Amsterdam and Frankforton-the-Main have been instrumental in placing over $190,000.000 of Central and Southern Pacitic bonds. You will, therefore, undersand why we are so anxious to obtain as much information as possible in respect to the property and its management. I have been traveling with Col. Richard Price Morgan, civil engineer from Dwight, Ill., whom our firms have requested to look over the property and make a full report thereon as an independent expert.

SCHAP BEAP.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fesystem includes seven separate rail-roads in fourteen States and Territories, including the Republic of Mexico. In the system there are now 7100 miles of main line. It has leaked out-that when Col. Fred Crocker was in Santa Monica the other day he held a long confidential confab with Sam Jones, a brother to Senator Jones, presumably on the question of land rights along the route of the Southern Pacific extension at that place. As ern Pacific extension at that place. As has been stated, the right-of-way is not yet fully clear, and some fine managing is necessary yet.

The plat of the relocation of the line of the Southern Pacific east of Yuma as filed in the Prescott land office, shows that the relocated line leaves the present line at Yuma and skirts the hills at some point five or sky miles from the some point five or six miles from the present line; and some places only a short distance from the present road for a distance of 25.896 miles to within one-half mile of Liguvita station.

Yesterday the tracklayers of the Ter-minal road began the work of puttidg in the crossing over the Southern Pacific track at Long Beach up near the Chautauqua grounds. Though the road has practically reached Long Beach the formal spike-driving will be done when the rails come around to the side of the town along Ocean avenue. It is said that plenty of material is now at hand to rush the completion of the road to to rush the completion of the road to Rattlesnake Island.

For a few moments he leaned against it affectionately, with his arms clasped tightly around its grim visaged head, whether in a transport of tenderness or an effort to regain his equilibrium it is difficult to say. Suddenly something strange in the nature of his support seemed to dawn upon him. Some inking, perhaps that this was not the familiar lamp post penetrated his clouded brain.

is not in politics at all. He is repre-fectly candid in his utterances, the fact remains that a very strong effort is making to establish a third party on the agitation which the Farmers' Alli-ance has brought about. This third party is comprised of many heterogeneous elements. It comprises, first, a proportion of farmers, who believe that they can best accomplish the reforms which they desire by revolutionizing politics; second, a representation from other industrial classes, who are equally honest in their purposes and methods; third, the flotsam and jetsam of cranks and failures who are always adrift, and who never fail to attach themselves to the newest political thing; and finally a delegation of that never-failing ele ment, the scheming politicians, who think that they will be able to ride into prominence and possibly into office and spoils on the wave of a popular demon-

It can hardly be expected that an or ganization thus formed will have a very strong coherence at first; that it will be consistent or practical in its de-mands, or that it will command the success that its more sanguine members an-ticipate. When so many diverse elements come together, each is sure to de mand some concession in the platform as the price of its adherence. The original reforms demanded by the farmers and other industrial classes—some of which are undoubtedly just and meritorious - are soon overlaid and weighed down with all sorts of vision ary schemes. That is where the crank gets in his deadly work. As for the practicing politicians—the broken-down hacks and flat failures of all other para large H is their only plan of campaign; and hence they accept anything and everything that is proposed. They would gladly bring into line all classes from the preacher to the bunco-steerer, accepting the policies of all with an equal degree of insincerity.

Thus we find the movement which is to take form and shape as the third party, or the People's party, or the Independent party, or whatever name may be given it. It has already made political demonstrations in several States and has secured three or four Representatives in Congress. But similar movements in former times, like the Know-Nothings and the Greenback-Labor party, did as much or more, and then faded out into nothingness.

there is no demand for a new political nobody will deny; that these abuses should be remedied we agree; but we cannot all agree as to the methods to be adopted to that end. Nothing is more certain, however, than that the Republican party stands ready to chamthat cause is presented in such light that there can be no mistake as to its is not in politics at all. He is represented as saying.

The Parmer's Alliance is not a political organization. It only educates the people, if there is a third party movement, while such might be comprised of men who constitute the alliances, yet it will not receive the name of the Alliance. There will be no such third party movement if t can be helped. Further than this I cannot say. Certainly there is no fixed preference in the Alliance as to who any Presidential candidate should be, any more than it will not be any one who has the slightest amiliation with Wall street; that soure.

The strong feature of this exhibit is that the flowers are mainly shown growing in pots. They are not only more attractive as Nature presents them, but they remain fresh all through the fair, and the botanist and student of vegetable life finds pleasure in studying the leaves, stems, branches, stocks and the habits of growth as well as the flowers and

A SPECIAL to the Chronicle from New York, giving the details of the marriage and separation of Frank Lawler and Josephine Mansfield, stated that the former had died years ago. "Frank Lawler is one of the most amiable and charitable of men. and only such a character would have been patient as long as he was with the infamous woman who disgraced his

THE folly and danger of the English compartment system on passenger coaches has again been strikingly illustrated. A few days ago a young woman who was a passenger on the Great Western Railway found herself shut up in a compartment with a male maniac. Her cries for help were unheard, and the madman cooly proceeded to open the door and throw her out headlong, while the train was going at full speed Luckily she was not killed, although her injuries were so serious that it will be a long time before she can recover from their effects. Her crazy fellowpassenger escaped before an alarm could reach the officials.

THE Phoenix Herald reports that the yrogress attained by Superintendent Rich thus far in establishing an Indian training school in Salt River Valley is very gratifying. The real aim of Superintendent Rich's work is not fully appreciated by many. Even a Wash ington official, of great experience in public affairs, ou a recent visit, took it for granted that the scheme was merely to teach the Indians some elementary branches and then turn them adrift to relapse into their tribe's original barbarism. Such is by no means Superin tendent Rich's purpose. He proposes to make these Indian children efficient members of industrial society, teaching them arts of husbandry and domestic management, so that they may become wage-earners, able to acquire, in time, competency, just like industrious, frugal white men and women. That is the only true humanitarianism toward the Indians.

Some idea of the extraordinary value of the crops in Kansas this year may be gained from the experience of an Atchison mortgage company, as reported by the Kansas City Star. The company was compelled to take several thousand acres of land in Rooks, Osborne, and other western counties under foreclossure. Much of this land was let to tenants on shares, and the result of the late harvest is a net profit for the company of $25,000 on wheat, rye and oats, with $5000 worth of corn yet to gather. The share of the tenants is equally as large. The company still has its lands, and such as it does not sell will be planted again next season. In every case the wheat vield more than paid for the ground which produced it, and in many cases a hundred acres of wheat paid the cost of an entire 160cre tract. Two more crops like that of 1891 will repay the company all its investments, including interest, in the West, and it will have its lands left.

THE New York Herald and a San Francisco contemporary are simultaneously publishing a series of articles intended to expose Keely's much-mysti-fied motor and his other feats in physical science. George W. Browne, a young inventor of Brooklyn, is the man who has undertaken to perform all of Keely's feats by simple mechanical de vices, and, according to reports thus far published, he has succeeded. Keely claimed, in brief, to have discovered (1) how to annihilate gravity; (2) how to revolve a metallic globe by a harmonic sound: (3) how to generate a vapor many times more powerful than steam and (4) how to propel a harmonic en-Mr. Browne has constructed an apparatus, which, by utilizing comessed air and a magnet, performs all the wonders of "annihilating gravity." a revolving magnet, easily concealed from view, operates a metallic globe. mands of progress.

This is the proper time to put the roads in order for the appreaching rainy season. During the long dry summer months they become much worn, and full of chuck-holes, which, as oon as the rains begin, become mudholes. Many a road which was good six or eight months ago is now fairly spoiled, and if left in its present condition, will become almost impassable before the end of the year. It is this neglect which has given our roads in this county such a bad name. In mending roads, as well as garments, "a stitch in time saves nine." The thing to do now is to provide drainage, repair culverts, fill up chuck-holes, mend grades and coat the road with gravel, stone, or some hard material. If these things are done the road will become packed by use and rain, and by rain and use, and in a little while become a first-class highway. If the overseer, neglects his duty the road commissioner can take the matter in hand and require the necessary work. If need be the Supervisors can have needed road work done by contract. As a rule, road-masters pay little attention to the con-dition of roads in their district. The office is generally sought and held for the money there is in it, and the roads are left in the condition use and nature have put them. We ought to have some good roads in this county without delay, and a complete system of roads as soon as possible, but there must be attention given to the subject by those whose duty it is, or nothing will be accomplished. If the city would put in good traffic condition the few streets that lead to the country in different directions, it would be the right thing for the read district officers to take up the work at the city border and carry it on from that point in each case, as far on the main thoroughfares as the funds of the district would allow and continue the operation from time to time as the revenues of the district justified. In that way we would get good main thor oughfares to the city, and eventually good roads leading into such principal highways. But the roads within the ties—they have nothing in view but con-ciliation and conquest. Harmony with city limits are in some cases even worse than those outside. Shawtoon JUDGE CATLIN committed Attorney General Hart's pamphlet on the waste basket scandal to the Sacramento grand jury yesterday with a very significant wipe at the political features intro duced into the document. The learned Judge concludes that the aforesaid political allusions should cut no figure with the jury. Bless us! they were not intended to. That was the Attorney-General's little play to the galleries, as we noted the other day.

It is announced from Atchison that x-Senator Ingalls will not make any political speeches this fall; he will stick to his lecture engagements. though he comes in for a good many hard knocks nowadays, the fact femains that his is one of the brightest intellects that Kansas has ever sent to the front.

Apollo Club concerts was given before a moderate audience at the Los Angeles They ater last night.

Though as a whole the club has greatly improved on this occasian, the laddes carried off the honors. In the difficult harmony of the "Will o" the Wisp" they showed themselves capable of a high degree of security and confidence, surmounting strange intervals and mastering intrices harmony. In the two numbers by Vagrich and Brahms they showed a perception of style and feeling never approached before. The sopramos deserve especial praise for their accurate, clear and strong carrying of the theme. The men were at their best "The North Wind," where the harmony was not so close as to be painful, as in "Bye-lo-Land," and where there was more rythm than in the "Bedouin Love Song," for here the otherwise excellent rendition was seriously marred by lack of expression, and Bayard Taylor's thrilling words sung as if they were as meaningless as the multiplication table. The artistic success of the programme, however, was Ruff's "Moonlight," a magnificent composition and given with fine, though crude, effect. The soloist, Miss Ida Valerga, whose name has long been familiar to the habitues of the Tivoli Theater in San Francisco has a strong, well-known suprano, and sang the arias tried and true from Donizetti and Meyerbeer with all the refinements and sophistications of modern, light opera, miss Valerga, as the club's guest, very properly responded to a recall and sang a brief, light ballad.

Mrs. Larrabee was the accompanist, and her reliable playing assisted to support and give body to a number of the choruses, The Apollo Club is making progress, and Mr. Paulsen may feel justified and encouraged in his faithful leadership.

TIPS ON TIN.

The Famous Temescal Mines of Southern California.

Look on the Map for the San Jacinto Valley.

There are the Tin, the Mines, the Miners and the Mill.

Mr. Mills of Texas Should Come to Call fornia or Else Go, to School with a Tiu

Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, October 9. R. Q. Texas Mills and other advocates of shady theories have been and are saying that there is no American tin; that it is not made in this country, and can not be made here, and so on quantity. In an interview at Batavia Maj. McKinley said: "I know that there is a large deposit of tinat Temes cal, Cal. I also saw a specimen of tin ore recently brought from Dakota. There is plenty of tin there; I have no doubt of it." Mr. Mills says there is no tin in the United States. To put plainly the Democratic position on this question, the words of a prominent iron man may be quoted. Said he: "Mr. Mills of Texas is pleased to say that there is no tin here, and that it can not be manufactured. This is from a man who knows nothing of the subject. He would not know a tin mine from a lead would not know a tin mine from a lead deposit if he were to see it. He would not know block tin if it were placed in his hand, and he is simply brazening out the situation against the facts, hoping to tide over the credulity of the people until after the election. I verily believe that he knows he is tampering with the truth, and then what a position it places him in by asserting that it cannot be made, taking it for granted that we have the deposits. He is that we have the deposits. He is simply libeling the intelligence of the American people; a very disagreeable stand to take. It is insulting and un-American to the last degree." But to the main issue, that there is no tin in this country:

A reporter of the Commercial Gazette, hearing that Thomas Mack, the from man, had returned from an extended tour of California, called the some general information necessary for so important an occasion as the present period of willful contradiction. Mr. Mack is an experienced miner, having worked mines of both lead and silver, and he has been interested in the subthis country: and he has been interested in the subject all his life. It has been customary to lay the whole tin policy, both of dis-covery and manufacture, upon the Mc-Kinley Bill; but it is an old industry. This special phase of Mr. Mack's interview must be applied to a former day, for it was in May that he made his visit to the Temescal mine, in Southern California. Himself and John Foster, the attorney, were making a tour of the West, and had reached San Diego in their wanderings. While there, 'remarked Mr. Mack, 'I chanced to see a lot of tin-plate piled up, and my curiosity was aroused. Only in a general way, however, for this discussion had not then grown to such positive proportions. I asked from whence the supply was brought, and was informed that it was brought, and was informed that it was brought. To see the superintendent of the southern Pacific, Rullroad, myself, and Mr. To set were frurnished with passes to go on a visit to the mine. More than that, the same gentleman wrote in advance for us to the mine to bespeak the bospitality of the company's representations. riew must be applied to a former day or It was in May that he made his visit hispitality of the company's represent-atives. We got off at South Riverside, a small station on the Santa Ana River, small station on the Santa Ana River, and were driven seven miles back into the hills through as beautiful a country as I have ever seen. The rise, too, is gradual, and, when we reached the mine, we looked down, and the whole valley for miles lay spread out before us. We were given every facility for examination of the place, and I way, surprised to note the extent of the works and the vast improvements that are making. The mine is now more than twenty years old, and lies almost in the center of the old San Jacintoestate. This estate numbers some twenty thousand acres, and, like so twenty thousand acres, and, like so many of the old land holdings out there was a subject of litigation for two degades. Finally the matter reached a conclusion a year ago, and the present company was free to enlarge. The company, I believe, is in the main provided with English capital, but there is a proportion of American interest at-taching. On the grond we found a five-stamp mill, and all the necessary accompaniments in the way of con-centrators and smelting furnaces. The facilities were not complete for hand-ling all the ore possible to be drawn out. The mill had a stamping capacity of about five tons, and the average of about five tons, and the average yield for the ore was about 20 per cent. as we then saw it. About 200 men were in the employ of the company. The superintendent had a beautiful cottage, and some distance away in the shadow of the hill nestled the house of the workmen, a big, roomy building, where each one had an apartment to himself, and on the first floor was a kitchen furnished with every modern appliance for successful culinary operations. There was an exevery modern appliance for successful culinary operations. There was an ex-cellent cook in attendance. There were other cottages for men who had their families with them. Then there was a families with them. Then there was a store for general supplies, and a commissary store, where the workmen could secure every necessary article at a reasonable price, and all of these things were owned by the company. When we were there a larger mill was in course of erection near the old building. This new structure was right over the opening of the mine which had been tunneled into the hill a distance of over 600 feet, and shafted to a depth of 600 feet, and shafted to a depth of nearly 200. Some distance away, and connected by a tram railway, was another opening in the hill, running in some hundreds of feet. Near the mining village runs a small river, the name of which I have forgotthe name of which I have forgot-ten, and here the workmen were put-ting in a dam that in the end will cost about $$50,000. The intention is to utilize the water power thus obtained for yet a third mill that was in course of erection behind an immediate rise of the ground. The dam was of the most complete possible character, they hav-ing gone down fully twenty feet below the surface for the heavy stone founda-tion. When finished, it would give them the surface for the heavy stone foundation. When finished, it would give them a lake nearly a mile and a half in length. Again they were tunneling the nill to connect all of the mills, and this tunnel was over 7000 feet in length, and when we were there it had been worked fully one third of the way. It was to serve a double purpose, By running it where located it tapped twenty-ing it where located it tapped twenty-ing distinct ledges. Now, to my mind, this means something. These men are not putting their money in there without hope of ultimate success. It is not to be met with in a day, nor a month. No industry that the world has ever known, grew to fruition in a night. There must always be a period of experiment. Many circumstances must combine, commercial and otherwise, to assist to success, and it is not for me nor any other man to say conclusively that the tin industry will ever attain to giant proportions; but the metal is here and in large quantities, not alone in the section I have named, but in the Black Hills country as well as in other localities, and given the material the American people can safely be trusted with the task of accomplishment when the moment arrives."

W. H. Bucher, an expert in the matter of chemical research and analysis.

W. H. Bucher, an expert in the matter of chemical research and analysis, was seen yesterday, and called attention to a solemn statement in a morning paper purporting to be an analysis of an example of steel metal furnished, this analysis having been made, according to the report, by Frederic Kaffer of the Ohio State University. In this the chemist professes to discover nine and a fraction per cent. of tin, three and a small fraction per cent. of lead and eighty-seven and nearly a half per cent. of "iron" (with carbon). Now this statement of the component parts of the sample is unfortunate for the Democratic argument. The usual rate of mixture as between tin and lead is as five to three, and here is a piece of five to three, and here is a piece of metal that has nine parts tin to three of lead. It is sometimes pleasant to hoist a Democratic fairy-taler on his own Judge A. L. Sidley of Marrietta, O., spoke on "Marriage and Divorce Laws." His proposition was that the right to divorce is complemental, to and demanded by the right to marriage, not only in cases of adultery but also of desertion. Marriage was a means, not an end. Special cases excepted, God and nature had made those relations the universal rigut of mature men and women. This included the right of each party to the union to its essential benefits. Desertion deprived the innocent party of these, unless made the ground of divorce. The gist of it all is in the principle, deducible alike from reason and, scripture, that the right to marriage and its essential benefits and as the enly condition for righteous propagation, becomes paramount to the rule of its permanence in cases of wrong to an innocent partner whereby the fundamental obligations of the relation are abnessed. Finally it leaves to the inmental obligations of the relation are abnegated. Finally it leaves to the innocent parties an escape from propagation with the foulness of unknown adultery and from being forced by desertion into a life of celibacy.

ADDRESS TO ALL METRODISTS.

ADDRESS TO ALL METHODISTS. During the afternoon session Dr Chapman of England, from the com mittee charged with its preparation read the address of the Ecumenical Con ference to Methodists throughout the

It sends greeting to the brethren in every land to which the common faith has spread, and glorifles God for the prosperity He has given the Methodist Church, under which they have grown Church, under which they have grown antil they number 25,000,000 adher ents. It says:

By the most inexorable tests Methodism has been proved to be singularly adapted to the needs of man. Although many adjustments and developments must undoubtedly be made to accomplish fully our mission, let us beware of thinking that any vital changes are necessary. Patthfully using our present means under the blessing of God, our prosperity will grow. We rejoice to recognize the substantial unity which exists among the various Methodist bodies; the firm basis in a common creed. We are proud of the spiritual ancestry; we sing the same holy hymns; our mode of worship is very similar, and what is most important of all the type of religious experience is fundamentally the same throughout the Methodist world. Rejoicing in these things we think the time has come for closer cooperation of Methodist churches, both at home and abroad, which shall prevent waste of power and unadlowed rivalry. We need to combine our energies, for the work we have to do is east and urgent. Skepticism and indifference, so natural to the human heart, have been reinforced by the abuse of science and philosophy. The hard lots of millions make it diment for them to believe in God. There is so much that the churches have not done to redress the wrongs and heal the sufferings of manking that it is hard for its. It says: By the most inexorable tests Methodism done to redress the wrongs and heal the one to redress the wrongs and heal ine sufferings of mankind that it is hard for many to believe in their divine mission. Let us preach and live the Gospel of Christian to its integrity, dismissing all narrow conceptions of our duty. Let us trace the moralevil of men to its true sources in their surroundings, their physical natures, their ignorance, their passions and their will, and set ourselves to deal comprehensively with them. To do this, it will be necessary for members of our churches to make full use of their political rights, for to allow the great powers of law and government and their still greater influence to fall into the hands of ungodly men would be incredibly silly and a sin. God forbid that any of our churches should become the instrument of political parties. When member takes his place in that political ennection which is most in harmony within his ideas and convictions, let him never forget that there are great moral interests superior to all party exigencies in which he must seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness. Every proposal that imperits the sanctity of the home, the purity of women, innocence of children; that violates the Christian Babbath: that sanctions and increases wrong, should be impartially and earnestly resigned.

Of a few of the great evils which admit, in some degree, of public treatment, we cannot be silent. Intemperance, the fruitful mother of a brood of evils, is largely created by legal temptation. It is too much to ask that our people combine to use all legal instruments to abate this wanton soliciation of men to vice and crime. Let us discourage in every way gambling which springs from love of excitement and lust of gain, two of the besetting evils of the modern world. Let us abstain from all recleess speculation in business which cannot be distinguished from gambling. Excessive and unfair competition should be steadily ayolded and discountenanced. And shall we not do all we can to mold public opinion and establish courts of arbitration that the complicated crime of agressive war may be averted?

We need to employ with the utmost economy our resources. One secret of the strength of Methodism has been the free play which it allows to the gifts and energies of the laity. It is to be hoped that the multiplication of ministers may not tempt us to think that lay preaching is unnecessary. Among the wasted treasures of the church are the delicate sensibilities, the tact, the tenderness, the persuasive powers of holy women. We are all agreed that the needs of the world require and the conditions of the age allow, that such women should take a more prominent place in the work of the church. The means of grace in which Methodism is so rich are a congenial sphere for their best talent. In the social and benevolent work, which is springing up on every hand and as one of most hopeful features of the times, their gifts are indispensable and invaluable. We distinctly approve of the associations in which during t

The address rejoices in wonderful progress of such societies as the Ep-worth League, and would be glad if similar societies, adapted to other conditions, could be established in other parts of the Methodist world. "We feel," says the address, "that our Sunday-schools have not as yet realized their vast possibilities; but the home is the great nursery of religious faith and life."

The address says that the educa-tion of the young is a matter of great concern, and that Methodists shall never cease to oppose every system of national education which unduly favors national equication, which unduly tavors any particular church. It adds: In these days when science is perversely forced to attack our faith, one of the fore-most duties of the church is to pretect our sons from the temptations set in their path.

considerable space is devoted to the subject of foreign missions, in which much pride is taken. The activity and resources of the church, it is stated, are increasing daily. Against the trade in spirits and opium, which are trying to discredit the work of the church in Africa and China, she will never cease to raise her voice. The address says:

Let us beware of taking a parrow view of the working of our missionaries. The increase of our people in wealth and power has laid us under a great responsibility. It seems probable that before long Methodism will constitute nearly a fourth of the people who use the English tongue. We are a factor of growing importance in that great race which by restless impulse is spreading its dominion and its civilization on the vast regions of every continent. We ought to go wherever our race goes; multiply our churches and increase our communication and so become a bond of union among the wideapread-people of English blood, and we should strive to check that dangerous temper into which adventurous and governing races so easily fall. So shall we do our drifty to our fellow-men and play our part in the great plan of God.

The address closes with a heartfelt invocation and prayer that the church may clearly see and rightly interpret the signs of the times, and discerning the will of God may yield themselves to it.

At the conclusion of the reading of Considerable space is devoted to the

At the conclusion of the reading of the address, it was adopted without amendment by the conference. It will be signed by all officers of the conference and will then be distributed by the senior bishops and presidents of conferences throughout the world as an embodiment of the views of the conference respecting the present and future state of Methodism:

Much of His Dead Wife's Property to be Devoted to Charity. New York, Oct. 19.—[By the Associated Press.] The Sunday Press has a story from Methuen saying Mrs. Searles's reason for disinheriting Timothy Hopkins was because of his lack of economical habits, and because of his quoted as saying that he offered $3,000,000 from the estate in the ope that the veil on the home life of Mrs. Searles would not be lifted. He says the whole truth will come out on the trial and there need be no fear that his course of conduct will not be fully vindicated. He says that it was the windicated. He says that it was the wish of his wife that the Great Barring-ton estate should be converted into an educational institution, and that it is his intention to carry out her wish that much of her fortune should be devoted to education and charity. She made him her confidant, and as her executor her prepares to carry out her wishes.

"These lands can be bought for from $75 to $100 an acre," he said, "and five acres will support a large family. Ido not understand why men are content to toil in England and on the continent for a bare living and no hope of the future while there are such great opportunities in California. There is another thing; such colonists are needed in California more than anything else, and if they could be brought here and set to work they would be a benefit both to themselves and the State." Mr. Thomas will leave in a few days for London to set afloat his colonization scheme. "These lands can be bought for from

Some time ago you requested me to investigate whether or not the City Water Company or any other company or person cestigate whether or not the City Water Company or any other company or person was illegally taking water from the Los Angeles River. I will confine my report to the City Water Company and Crystal Spring Land and Water Company, as I believe that they are the only companies or persons taking water from the river under suchcircumstances as raise questions, as to the right so to do. Prior to July 22, 1865, the city wored and operated a crude system of water ling water from the river under suchcircumstances as raise questions, as to the right so to do. Prior to July 22, 1865, the city owned and operated a crude system of water works which it afterwards leased to different parties, who assigned their interest to the present City Water Company. The lease from the city under which the Water Company is claiming, being made in July 1868 with J. S. Grimn, P. Beaudry and S. Lazard, in which lease the city in consider ation of $1500, to be paid each year, leased to them the city water works for the term of thirty years, with the right to take from the river ten inches of water, which amount could be increased by obtaining consent of the Mayor and City Council. This lease contains many provisions as to laying pipes, building reservoir and the right of the city to purchase the works at the expiration of the lease, which it is not necessary to discuss in this connection. In pursuance of said lease the company proceeded to operate the works, taking, as I understand, more water from the river than ten inches without previously having obtained the conpent of the Mayor and Council of the city.

On November 5, 1886, a corporation known as the Crystal Spring Land and Water Company was incorporated, the stockholders and officers of which company were nearly, if not all, stockholders and officeholders in the City Water Company, and on December 13, 1886, the City Water Company in consideration of $1 conveyed all rights it had acquired by deed from C. J. Grimth and C. V. Howland to certain land and water rights, which is designated in the deed as "Crystal Spring." I understand that the water company-claim that they are not and have not for years been taking water from the river, but obtained its supply from the Crystal Spring. Water Company. Whether or not the water obtained from the pround and from what I have seen upon the so-called Crystal Spring is part of the water and water supply of the Los Angeles River is a question which will probably require a thorough investigation to deter the water derived from the Crystal Spring is part of the water and water supply of the river. During all of the time that the City Water Company was taking water from the river it was operating under the lease and consequently the taking was not hostile or adverse to the title of the city, but in subservience the same, and it could obtain no title to any of the water of the river by user. Any claim or user of the water by the Crystal Spring Water Company has been since its incorporation, November 10, 1886, and from the City Water Company, on December 13, 1886, and five years will not elapse until December 13, 1891, until which time title by adverse user cannot ripen, if at all.

Section 1 of article 14 of the Constitution provides that "the use of all water now appropriated, or that may, hereafter be appropriated for sale, rental, or distribution, is hereby declared to be a public use, etc." Our Supreme Court in the case of Foliz vs. the City of Los Angeles River, and from thd act of 1850 incorporating the city, down to the present charter the city has been granted by the Legislature, the title to all of the water of the river from its source or sources, to the intersection with the southern boundary of the city, with the right to develop all water flowing beneath the surface, etc., and from the charter of 1874, down to and including the present charter, the city has been granted by the Legislature, the title to all of the water of the river from its source or sources, to the intersection with the southern boundary of the city, with the right to develop all water flowing beneath the surface, etc., and from the charter of 1874, down to and including the present charter, the city has been prohibited from selling or disposing of any interest in the same to any person or company, showing, as I think, that the water of the river has been set apart or dedicated for public use, with like effect as the dedication of a street or park for public use, that it cannot be conveyed to private persons, they are virtually exclu operation of the statute of limitations."

I can see no reason why this doctrine does not apply to the water of the river, which is certainly more essential to the public than any street or park, and I believe that title to any part thereof cannot be acquired by adverse user, or by limitation. However, there is no necessity for leaving the question in doubt, and I therefore advise that an action be instituted against the that an action be instituted against th Crystal Spring Company to determine its claim to the water it has developed or ap-

ORPHAN'S FAIR.

Successful Opening at Armory Hall Last Evening.

Addressed by Councilman McGarry, Mayo Hazard, Hon. S. M. White, Hon. M. L. Graff and Gen. H. G. Rollins.

The managers of the Catholic orphans' fair. which opened last evening in Armory Hall, may congratulate them-selves on the fact that they have the prettiest booths in design and finish ever displayed here. There are a score ever displayed here. There are a score of them and each one is a study of grade and beauty. They are presided over by groups of young ladies who dad greatly to their attractiveness. A large crowd turned out last evening to visit the fair. All the chairs fronting the platform were occupied and a row of interested faces leaned from the galleries. A most entertaining programme had been prepared which was introduced by remarks from D. M. McGarry. He was followed by Mayor. Hazard, who thereafter acted as chalt, man of the evening, accepting the courtesy with a few pleasant words of greeting. A quartette from the Ellis greeting. A quartette from the Ellis. Club—Messrs. Miss Agnes Kremer told in a graphic way "What a Christmas Carol." and the guitar duet by Prof. M. S. Mevalo and Master M. TIMOTHY HOPKINS.

Defense of the Young Man and His Mother, Mrs. Nolan. An employé of the Searles-Stillman-Hebbard combination to get control of and title to the estate of the late Mark Hopkins, has printed in the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette a letter attacking Mr. Timothy Hopkins and his mother, Mrs. Nolan. The letter bears the earmarks of the employers, and not of the person who signs himself "Curtis Dunham." The paternity of the Dunham letter is so easily located by its style and contents that it seems strange that its author should have felt secure enough in his own glass house to throw stones at even an honest laundress. And when it is remembered that Mrs. Nolan is not a party to the suit to recover from the gang the property of Mark Hopkins, it is amazing that men whose maternal origin is far below that of young Hopkins, should expect to hide the products of their crime under an assault upon a woman whose moral status prompted her always to earn honest bread for her children. Of course, these wretches could not drag Widow Nolan into court and attack her honest life, but they hope to cause her son all possible heartaches by attacking his mother, and possibly by such means induce him to abandon a contest for his rights.

With the people of California Mr. Timothy Hopkins needs no defender—nor does his mother, for the only offense that can be charged against her is that she was weak enough to entrust her son to the care of such people as Mark has printed in the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette a letter attacking she was weak enough to entrust her son to the care of such people as Mark Hopkins and his wife.

When young Nolan went to the Hop-kins home—if it could be called a home—old Mark was not a millionaire. In---old Mark was not a millionaire. Indeed, no honest man expected that he would ever have so much as a roof over his head by the time Uncle Sam had secured his own from him. The young man had no voice in the transfer of his person to the Hopkins' family. It was consummated in his infancy--forced upon him, and he gave all that he had or could give in return for it. When old man Hopkins died, he left his propetty to his wife simply because he could inot take it along with him.

I would not attack, in any way, the I would not attack, in any way, the memory of Mrs. Hopkins, whose marriage to the adventurer Searles dld not amount to legalized adultery, for she was evidently, not a mentally strong enough to cope with the scheming rogues against whom her adopted son had protected her and her property. Her weakness of intellect may not have antedated her marriage to her cousin, for she may not have known his pecufor she may not have known his pecu-marities of character; but it did not take many years of association with him to reduce her to his own level in many things. And yet, if he could have looked into the future, he would no doubt have willed his wealth to a "spoiled brakeman," (as the confederate of Searles calls Hopkins) rather than to have seen his weak-minded widow left a prey to the wretches into whose hands she finally fell.

The dedicatory services of the First Bap tist Church were held last Sunday. The day was perfect, and at an early hour carriages, filled to overflowing from the surrounding country, were seen entering the town; th

The tasteful and pretty church was filled with nearly 300 people, other church services having been abandoned for the day, each of the three services being well attended in consequence.

The special addresses of the day were given by Rev. W. W. Tinker of East Los Angeles, general missionary for Southern California, who gave the "Charge to Church and Beople;" Rev. The dedicatory sermon, a stirring and earnest one, was preached in the evening by Rev. C. E. Harris of Pasadena. A. distinctive feature of the day was the music, consisting of a chorus choir of over twenty voices, under the leadership of J. M. Johnson, assisted by Mrs. George H. Beach, as organist, and Mrs. John Mornitt of Los Angeles, who sang a solo, both morning and owning.

The building, a model of architectural beauty and design, was dedicated free from debt. The report of the Building Committee showed the cost of the church to have been $2144,$500 of which was the gift of the Baptist Home Missionary Society. The report further stated that a debt of $373 was still unprovided for; but an earnest appeal to, the people from Rev. W. W. Tinker brought a response of over $400. Mention should be made of the special donation of the architect, Hugh Todd of Los Angeles, who donated his services; also of the excellent and substantial work of the contractors and builders, Messrs. Gould & Hedges of Los Angeles, whose careful supervision and solid worksmanship was commented on by all when the price paid was mentioned.

The people and pastor of the First Baptist Church of The Palms are to be congratulated upon this pretty church edifice, and to know they stand free from debt.

Mr. Lyman Gets Whacked on the Head

By Col. Bowler at the Sierra Madre Villa.

Preacher Yatres Once More Heard From.

Many Pasadenians Attend the Los Angele aces-Numerous Brevities of Interest - Personal

Col. J. R. Bowler appeared before Justice B. H. Rose yesterday morning and pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery preferred by Proprietor Lyman of the Si. erra Madre Villa. A small fine was imposed and the case dismissed.

Col. Bowler was seen by the reporter afterwards. The affair in question, the Colonel said, happened last Saturday morning. He was lying sick abed when Mr. Lyman oame to his room. The latter said, "Bow-onel said, happened last Saturday morning. He was lying sick abed when Mr. Lyman oame to his room. The latter said, "Bowler, you are discharged and I want you to quit the place at once." The Colonel said he was sick, but that didn't matter for he wouldn't go it he was well until he had been paid what was due, him. Lyman repeated his order for an immediate departure and a dded some insulting remarks to the effect that Mrs. Bowler had stolen some thread belonging to the house. This naturally aroused the ire of the Colonel. He jumped from the bed and advanced upon Lyman armed with a chair. The proprietor retreated a few steps, whereupon the Colonel dropped the chair and picked up a big Japanese fan, the handle of which he laid over Mr. Lyman's head with sufficient force to break it (the handle) into a hundred pieces. Mr. Lyman in his excitement called upon a workman who happened near by, to arrest the Colonel, but the said workman didn't respond, whereupon Mr. Lyman drove to kown and had a warrant sworn out, which resulted in the Colonel's appearance at court yesterday. It is passing strange that Mr. Lyman should have taken offense at such little pleasantries as being whacked on the head with a fan, for it was only recently that he himself applied the lash of a whip to Inspector Richardson's legs and then thought he was befug persecuted because the case was taken into court.

ne was neing persecuted because the case was taken into court.

For a week or more past affars have not been running smoothly between Mr. Lyman and Col. Bowler. The latter, it seems, assumed the management of the villa on a three-years' contract. Suddenly Mr. Lyman served notice upon his manager to quit. No attention was paid to the notice and a few evenings later Lyman told the Colonel that if he persisted in staying at the villa, he and his family must eat with the servants. But the Colonel held the fort in the dining-room, and all went well until the above exciting episode occurred, except of course that the proprietor and the manager didn't speak as they passed by. In explanation of the alleged theft of thread, Col. Bowler says that in cleaning out an old desk which was to be sold at aucsion, he ran across some spools of thread and other viriles of small value, which he out an old desk which was to be sold at auc-sion, he ran across some spools of thread and other articles of small value which he handed to Mrs. Bowler, who put them in the linen room, where he claims they belonged. He says he will remain at the villa, although life there under the existing cir-cumstances is decidedly unpleasant, until some satisfactory financial arrangement is effected whereby ne may close out his contract.

was discovered that Preacher Yatres, whose exploits in Pasadena will easily be recalled, was in the smoking car:

Accordingly City Attorney Arthur and J. W. Woods, who had reason during his short stay in Pasadena to become personally interested in Preacher Yatres, determined to make a descent upon him and at least give him a good scare.

The scheme worked to perfection. It was discovered that the preacher had purchased a ticket to Newhall with a view to beating his way to Mojave. By means of this information and a complete knowledge of his doings in Pasadena, Rev. Yatres was frightened so badly that he almost had hysterics. He recognized the City Attorney, and upon being informed that a warrant had been issued for his arrest, he agreed to return peaceably to Pasadena and stand trial provided his fare was paid. It was decided to let the matter rest until Mojave was reached, and it is stated that when this town was arrived at the preacher cut a surprisingly rapid retreat for the high timber, and that is the last heard of Preacher Yatres.

POMONA.

Increase of Olive Production in the Past Few Years.

The Industry Rapidly Coming to the Front Heavy Travel to Los Angeles-Notes.

[The Pimes conveys the news of the world to Pomona 24 hours in advance of the San Fractisco papers. The Pomona branch omce and agency is at Armour's Pharmacy, Second street, where advertisements, orders for the paper and hows items are received.]

It is only of late years that the question as to whether olives can be made to thrive and become profitable in this immediate settled beyond dispute that they can, and olive growing is now coming rapidly to the front as a branch of fruit interest of this part of Southern California. Alfred Wright was one of the first to embark in olive culture at Ponnon and his olive culture at Ponnon and his olive cuchard of was one of the first to embark in olive culture at Pomona, and his olive orchard of twenty acres is very interesting for other reasons beside its being one of the first planted. It is on a very sandy loam and has been grown without Irrigation or the artificial application of water. Yet the trees set in April, 1888, are, some of them, fifteen to eighteen feet high, and the trunks of a large part of them four to six inches in diameter. At the close of this very dry season the trees are fresh and growing rapidly, and many of them bearing a good, crop of large fruit. Olive grows near there grown with irrigation show no better growth of wood nor more fruit; but to produce the largest and finest fruit Mr. Wright is satisfied that irrigation will have to be resorted to. The trees in his grove would have been much larger had he not cut them back severely to propagate the 30,000 young trees he has in his nursery. He has been growing a large number of Vanelies, but is convinced that the Manzanilio and Navadilio Blanco are the varieties for this region. The fruit of the former was twice the size of that of the Mission when examined by The Times correspondent on Saturday, and is a iready ripening.

SANTA BARBARA.

Route of the Ellwood-Santa Mar-Margarita Road.

Many People Believe It will be Through Gaviota Pass.

Expensive to Construct, but It Can be Economically Operated.

Large Number of Visitors to the Los Anbara's School Facilities Briefs and Personals

[THE TIMES conveys news to Santa Bar-bara twenty-four hours ahead of the San Francisco papers. The branch office and agency is at No. 713 State street, where advertisements, orders for the paper and news items may be left.]

Notwithstanding the repeated assertion of the railroad authorities to the contrary. it is believed by many citizens here, who have watched the actions of the railroad managers carefully, that the route of the road connecting Ellwood and Santa Marga-rita, will pass through the Gaviota Pass and go via Los Olivos, Los Alamos and Santa Mària. Those who have reached this opinion believe that the Southern Pacific has absorbed the Pacific Coast narrow gauge road, running from San Luis Obispo to Los Olivos, and that the gauge of this road will be broadened and made a portion of the Southern Backbarnton.

will be broadened and made a portion of the Southern Pacific system.

The route by the coast, when completed, will be one of easy-grade, nowhere exceeding forty feet to the mile, with the possible exception of a couple of miles in the Todas Santos Pass, between the Jesus Maria ranch and the town of Guadalupe. The trouble with this route is the expense in its construction. The entire route between Ellwood and the Lompoc ranch, a distance of sixty miles, is one successive series of deep arroyos which require bridges or trestles, in many instances, of 600 or 700 feet in length and forty or fifty feet in height. Then there is, beyond Point Concepcion, a long stretch, through which the coast route would have to pass, of shifting sand, which would require heavy expense. This route once completed could be cheaply operated owing to its easy grades, but would be several miles longer than the Gaviota route, and would not tap as much productive territory.

If the company should, as many predict, would be several miles longer than the Gaviota route, and would not tap as much productive territory.

If the company should, as many predict, adopt the Gaviota route, it would find much heavier grade. The railroad could only pass at an elevation of about 700 feet above sea level, and would probably have to make a rise of 000 feet in six miles, on the coast side, and would find nearly 4the same grade on the interior descent. Once having reached the Santa Ynez Valley the grade would be found easy, until the town of San Luis Obispo is reached. Beyond this town, no matter what route is selected, heavy grades are experienced. It is stated that two tunnels will be found necessary in passing the mountain chain lying to the north of San Luis, and that the grades of the approaches to these tunnels will reach 100 feet to the mile for several successive miles. The highest elevation reached by the railroad in passing these mountains will be in the neighborhood of 1300 feet, and this elevation must be made between Arroyo Grande and the summit, a distance of a trific less than twenty miles.

SIXTH DISTRICT FAIR.

The Doors Opened to the Public Yesterday.

The Formal Opening to Take Place This Evening.

Addresses by Leading Citizens and Other Interesting Exercises.

Exhibits for the Horticultural and Agricultural Display Still Pouring in—The List of Entries.

If one wishes an object lesson illus trative of the capabilities of California's fertile soil, the Chamber of Com merce will be the place to see it during the present week, where will be found the agricultural, manufacturing and art display of the Sixth District Fair. The hurry and bustle which has been going on for days preparatory to the opening reached a climax yesterday, when big 300-pound pumpkins, mam-moth melons, beets, squashes and potatoes rolled into the hall simultaall asking to be entered to compete for premiums with the giant cornstalks, the 5-pound clusters of grapes, the 6-inch Kelsey plums, the Ventura county beans and honey, the Santa Barbara stamped leather, the mineral water, the Pasadena dried fruit and the thousands of other products crowding for a place in the great display. The hall is not large enough to accommodate one-half the splendid specimens offered. All the side rooms on the lower floor and gallery have been utilized, and still the display is too crowded to show off well. The doors were thrown open to the public at noon yesterday, but the formal public at noon yesterday, but the formal opening will occur this evening, when there will be addresses by Messrs. C. M. Wells and Lichtenberger of the Chamber of Commerce, a speech by Hon. S. M. White, a poem by L. E. Mosher, and other ceremonies. Last evening quite a throng visited the chamber, and the orchestra gave a programme of ten selections.

Where is East Whittier?

It is 14 miles southeast of Los Angeles and is bounded on the north and east by the Puente Hills, that break the cold north winds in winter and the dreaded Santa Anas in the summer; on the south by an unbroken stretch of beautiful valley and plain to the ocean 16 miles away, which is plainly visible from the upper portions of the East Whittier Tract; on the west by Whittier and the Lower San Gabriel Valley, the outlook on the west, southwest and south taking in the whole sweep of country from Los Angeles to Santa Ana.

What is East Whittier?

It is the old Ramirez Ranch subdivided into 5 and 10-acre tracts with a soil of great depth and richness that for years has raised great crops of wheat, barley and corn without any water. A region practically frostless, where heliotrope grows the year round. It is now the most desirable acreage property in Southern California for homeseekers. The property will not be sold to speculators, only to those who will at once improve it. These lands will soon be offered at $200 per acre; some extra choice locations at $250 per acre, with water, You buy the land and water together and not simply a water right, and you get the finest kind of both. John Treat Captures the Handlesp Great Style-The Great 2:20 Trot_Some Very Fast

Never before in the history of Agri cultural Park did a race meeting open more favorably than on yesterday, when, under the auspices of the Sixth District Agricultural Fair Association the first race was called. The day could not have been more favorable, although the temperature was consideralthough the temperature was considerably above normal, and from all parts of Southern California hundreds of people crowded to the city. There is also a large delegation from the North, among whom are some of the best known horsemen on the Coast, and all took a deep interest in the events which followed in quick succession.

The park was crowded with people early in the day and they spent their time wandering about among the stalls and in the cattle pens.

By 1 o'clock the grand stand was crowded and hundreds of carriages were rolling in crowded and hundreds of carriages were rolling in.

One favorable sign that should be mentioned is the fact that there were more ladies present than ever before, and as the association has worked hard for this end for years past, they should be highly pleased. In all successful horse countries the ladies take a deep interest in such matters, but the accommodations at the park have not been under the present management several improvements have been made, and there is no reason now why there should not be a good attendance at the fair every day. At least two-thirds of the occupants of the grand stand yesterday were ladies, and more than half the carriages were filled with fair ones. The crowd was variously estimated at from 3500 to 4000, and for an opening day it is something wonderful. It was feared that the track would be too fast, but it was properly worked under the present management several

It was for a purse of $25,000, and was witnessed by people who traveled by wagon and horseback from one end of the State to the other.

YESTERDAY'S PROGRAMME.

Yesterday's programme was too long, and was not completed, but the card was a great one, and it is safe to say that there was not a kick for cause among the thousands of people present. There were four races, and each one went off as regular as clock work, and two of them were the greatest events ever witnessed in Southern California. The Southern California handicap was a great race, and was won in 1:14 by John Treat.

The other great event was the 2:20 trotting race, which was not finished, but three red-hot heats were trotted, and two animals, Lucy R and Glendine, made records. This race will be completed today, and more than ordinary chances are that the wind-up will be witnessed by more people than were present yesterday.

THE LOS ANGELES DERBY. The Los Angeles Derby was the first on the card, and was called at 1:50 instead of 1:15, the time fixed on the programme.

The race was one and one-half miles, for the Los Angeles Derby, and there were four entries, as follows: Cy Mulkey's Sinfax, D. R. Dickey's Request, B. F. Bragg's Queen Ida, and T. A. Case's Herkbecking. Ir. There were said. B. F. Bragg's Queen Ida. and T. A. Case's Hockhocking. Jr. There were only three starters, however, as Sinfax was lame, but it was a fair race and was won by Hockhocking, who really had a walk-over. The time was made in 2:44%, but it is safe to say that the winner could have beaten the time without an effort had it been necessary. But little money changed hands on this race. Request was the favorite in the pool room.

John Treat, by Shilo, owned by Dave Bridges; El Royo, by Grinstead-Sunlet, owned by Frank Menchaca, and Gambo, by Wild Idler, owned by Marcos Forster. Gladiator was ridden by Sullivan, John Treat by Roach, El Royo by Leonard and Gamba by Donalsch. Leonard was the only new jockey in the crowd, and had it not been for his inexperience it is more than probable that his horse would have won the race.—As it was, El Royo did excellent work and made the race one of the most exciting ever witnessed on the Coast. Pool-selling was very lively at from $35 to $20 and $25 to $15, with Treat the favorite. After a number of efforts the flyers AT AGRICULTURAL PARK.

After a number of efforts the flyers were let go in good shape and the immense audience held its breath, for it was plain to be seen that a great race was under way. El Royo and Gambo took the lead and ran neck and neck for some distance, when Gambo fell back and was soon passed by both Treat and Gladiator, but Royo held the lead and every one believed that he would carry off the purse until the home etch was reached, when Treat unded ahead with a mighty effort, sely followed by Gladiator, who had closely followed by Gladiator, who had gained steadily since the three-quarter post was passed. For a few seconds the three horses came along at a mighty pace, but poor El Royo was not properly handled just at this time by his jockey, who never before rode a race, and he fell behind, joining Gambo. This left Treat and Gladiator in the lead, and for a few lengths they were neck and neck, and it was impossible to tell to whom the race belonged, but a few feet from the wire Treat gathered himto whom the race belonged, but a few feet from the wire Treat gathered him-self for the last effort and with the as-sistance of his little jockey, who seemed to have the strength of a giant, he won the great race in the remarkable time

The immense audience, which believed until the last second that Treat was defeated, rose with one accord and cheer after cheer went up. Even the ladjes lost their heads and waved their bendlesselfs in the second and waved their nandkerchiefs in glee.

The horses came under the wire:

No. 3 on the card was the 2:20 trotting race for a purse of $800 and a gold-mounted set of double harness.

This was the race of the day. The handsome son of Alcyone-Rose Sprague, McKinney, looked all over the great race-horse that he is, and Charlie Durfee smiled complacently as he scored him up. Dr. Wise's Glendine, by Judge, Salisbury-Tempest was judiclously Handled by Connelly, and the Tallyrand of Southern California, Walter Maben, held the ribbons over Lucy ter Maben, held the ribbons over Lucy R., the handsome daughter of Sultan. After half a dozen scores the trio was sent off at a beautiful start. Lucy R.

took a good lead and reached the quarter pole one length ahead of Glendine in 0:34%, to the half she led by two open lengths, around the turn McKinney closed the gap and reached her wheel which position she held and passed under the wire first by a good length, McKinney second, Glendine on his wheel. Time, 2:18 1-5. A very creditable heat, and this gives Sultan another in the "teens."

Second heat: Again the judges sent them off to a good start, Lucy R. leading around the first turn. Glendine had the whip drawn on him and, amid great cheering, won the heat by a neck in 2:20, a great record for a young stallion. Now Glendine can retire to stud service with his present fast record, 2:20.

The third heat was very interesting. Walter Maben drove Lucy R. with judgment and wondrous skill. She led to the first quarter in 34% seconds. McKinney half a length behind, Glendine third. Lucy reaches the half in 1:18%, McKinney staying stubbornly on her sulky's wheel. It was a fine racehome. Track Notes.

The ladies' riding tournament is set for Wednesday afternoon.

Another sensational day's sport canbe expected this afternoon.

Capt. Merry, who officiates as starter, is the editor of the San Francisco Breeder and Sportsman. John Treat's ¼ mile run yesterday in 1:14¼ is the fastest time made this year in California for that distance.

There are six events on the card this afternoon, but the most intense interest is centered in the unfinished 2:20 trot.

is centered in the unfinished 2:29 trot.

The receipts yesterday were almost double any previous opening day. In fact, no association in California had a better opening day.

Rory O'More, who paces today, is owned by George Hinds of Wilmington. His owner expects to secure a low mark for him. | Ed Connelly will drive the little black demon.

The 2:20 horses will be called out at.

The 2:20 horses will be called out at 1 o'clock sharp this afternoon, and those who wish to see these crack light harness horses come down the line will do well to be on hand punctually, espec ially as every available good position will be monopolized early in the day.

The stock exhibit was visited by hun lreds of people yesterday, and the prize hogs, cattle, etc., were inspected with great interest. The display of swine is very good. CBLES VS. ELECTRICITY.

All of the Larger Cities Prefer the Underground Rope.

The Electric Systems Too Expensive to be Operated Profitably-The Results of Latest Investigations by Experts.

The indications are that the cable system of street cars as operated in San Francisco will meet with general adoption throughout the cities of the United States, says the San Francisco Examiner of Thursday. For a long time electric railways were looked upon by eastern engineers and capitalists as preferable to the cable roads, but it having been determined that the cable system is at once the most economical and productive of the best results gen-erally, there has been a revulsion of feeling on the part of street railroad men throughout the country in favor of the underground wire rope; and in many of the big cities east of the Rock-ies what were intended as electric lines of travel are now being converted into cable roads:

J. C. H. Stut, the mechanical engineer J. C. H. Stut, the mechanical engineer who has planned the building or many of the San Francisco cable roads, has studied both the electric and cable systems, and believes in the superiority of the latter, especially for heavy city traffic. Mr. Stut spoke yesterday of the careful manner in which the directors of the Omnibus line went to work to ascertain the relative merits of electricity and cable before laying out any money on their lines. They sent an engineer East to make a thorough examination of the advantages and failures of both systems. Trials of the electric system were also made on Folsom and on Nineteenth streets, and the unanimous conclusion was in favor of the cable.

CABLES IN NEW YORK. The Third Avenue Railroad Company of New York had much the same ex-perience as the Omnibus line, and are now constructing two stations that will contain the largest cable machinery ever erected.

The tremendous lot of cable work for these big companies is now being done by the Pennsylvania iron works of Phil-adelphia, in addition to which they are also the contractors for the entire material to be used in building the road of the Broadway Cable Company of New York. The projectors of these great roads give a decided preference to the cable over the electric method of loco-

At the beginning of this year President H. M. Whitney of the West End Street Railway Company of Boston spoke before the Committee on Cities and Taxation in the State House. In summing up his argument in support of summing up his argument in support or the company's petition for an exten-sion of their electric railway franchise he said: "We are installing at our cen-tral station today and will have in oper-ation before next winter more than 13,000 horse-power. And in Cambridge we are putting in a plant which is equal to 4,000 or 5,000 more."

THE POWER USED HERE. This is for a single electric-road system; one company taking from 17,000 to 18,000 horse-power to operate by electricity, while in San Francisco the entire cablesystem combined operates about 500,000 feet of cable, carring the heaviest traffic and all rying the heaviest traffic, and all on less than 3000 horse-power. ELECTRICITY TOO EXPENSIVE.

As San Francisco is the pioneercity of cable, so Baltimore is of electric road construction. The Baltimore City Passenger Railway Company, however, has decided on cabling its lines, and the work is now in progress. In speaking of this decision of the directors, and the proposed increase in cable construction, President Bowie of the company said: "In connection with the pany 'said: 'In connection with the engineer I have made a thorough examination into the cost of operating by cable and by electricity, and the conclusion we have reached is that by electricity we cannot secure the same returns as by cable. Indeed, taking the operation of electricity in Boston as a basis, it would be impossible for us, with the park tax we are compelled to meet, to earn anything at our present rate of fare with electricity as a motive power. While it may be a little more expensive to put the cable in operation there is considerable difference in its favor as a motive power over elec-tricity. The cable, we estimate, will require about 42 per cent. for operat-ing expenses, while with electricity it will take all the way from 60 to 95 per cent. Therefore we will not make any change in our

CO-OPERATIVE SUGAR.

Further Steps Taken to Perfect the Enterprise.

Two Meetings Held Yesterday at the Palms and Colegrove.

A Set of By-laws Prepared for the Incorporation

Further Explanation of the Benefits of the System-Beet-sugar Growing in Denmark-Almost All Soils Suitable for Beets.

Further steps were taken yesterday in the proposed cooperative beet-sugar enterprise, which was inaugurated at Colegrove two weeks ago. The report of last Monday's meeting, which was published exclusively in THE TIMES, has een made the subject of extended comments by leading newspapers of the State. It is evident that the new de-parture is arousing wide-spread attention, and that the success of this en-terprise would be the signal for the starting of other similar ones in various parts of the State.

The scope of country which it is expected to make tributary to the pro-posed Cahuenga factory extends beyond the Cahuenga Valley proper, and out into the plains toward Ballona. Residents in the neighborhood of The Palms are taking much interest in the scheme, and a meeting to discuss the question was held at the schoolhouse yesterday afternoon. There were peo-question was held at the schoolhouse, yesterday afternoon. There were people present from the surrounding country, from the ocean to the foothills.

H. H. Denker called the meeting to order, E. H. Sweetser was chosen chairman and L. T. Fisher of Santa Monica secretary. Frank J. Capitain was introduced and outlined the proposition for a coöperative sugar factory, his remarks being necessarily to a great extent a repetition of those which he made at Colegrove on the previous Moniay as, reported in The Times. The object was, he said, in brief, to place the sugar beet grower in a position where he will get the profit of sugar-making, which now goes to the capitalist, including the 2 cents bounty allowed by the Government. Under such a system the Government. Under such a system the Government. Under such a system as that proposed, the owner of five shares, planting five acres of land to beets, will have just as much to say in proportion to his holding as the man who has 500 shares.

It is proposed to pay $8.50 a ton for beets having 12 per cent sugar and 25 cents per ton for each additional per cent as at Chino. If desired, more can be paid. The profit goes to the grower in cither case. in either case

J. P. Gonner said that in this section twenty tons of beets per acre could be relied on, running from 12 to 20 per cent. sugar. This would give $2400 worth of sugar on ten acres, the bounty paying the expenses. There would be no watered stock to pay interest on or extravagant salaries. It would pay to haul the beets five or six miles. The farmers—of Centinela and Ballona should come into the enterprise. It should come into the enterprise. It does not pay a man sufficiently to grow beets for merely $3.50 a ton, as at Chino, considering the expenses of cultivation, harvesting, etc., which are not less than $50 an acre. There would be no trouble about getting the necessary capital as soon as the bond is arranged. As soon as the sugar beets are planted, the land will be worth several hundred dollars an acre. Nobody can own, stock unless he owns land and grows the beets. The object now is to obtain names of those who will go into obtain names of those who will go into the enterprise and take stock.

Mr. Denker remarked that Dr.

Nadeau had raised beets on 800 acres of the Hammel ond Denker ranch which went from 12 to 23 per cent. sugar, averaging 18 per cent.

In regard to the cost of raising the beets. Mr. Capitain read from an official report showing that at Grand Islands, Neb., the cost for a field of five acres was $171.50 or $34.30 per acre. At Chino the average cost of raising is $35.per acre. Reckoning 20 tons at $3.50 leaves $35 an acre profit. The difference in favor of a cooperative en-terprise is at once apparent.

The Watsonville factory shows yields running from 15 to 26 tons per acre.

An average of twelve farms shows 19 % tons. The difference is largely due to the care evended in outside. due to the care expended in cultivation.
The proposed factory at Cahuenga would as already stated, cost $242,995 and beets at $4 a ton and sugar at 4 cents a pound, would be $130,913, after allowing for interest, depreciation, insurance, etc. This is equivalent to 48.3 per cent. on the proposed capital stock of $300,000. A sinking fund would make the farmers owners of the factory in five years. These figures are based on the cultivation of city 1500 acres. tion of only 1500 acres.

The plan of incorporation, by laws and the bond were read by Mr. Capstain, being the same as reported last week in The Times. He reported that 1527 acres had so far been subscribed. The report of the Watsonville factory for 1888 was read to show that the estimates for the Cahuenga factory were conservative. That report (after adding the bounty, which did not exist then) knowledges (600) and the conservative factors where the conservative factors where the conservative factors are the conservative. then) showed a profit of $94,000 on an expenditure of $132,000, which did not comport very well with statements made by interested parties that the profits at Chino were only 6 per cent. One of the great attractions of this cooperative-plan is that the farmer has no cash to pay our only obligating him. no cash to pay out, only obligating him self to raise the beets.

In the by-laws the number of shares which any one person can hold are limited to 500. The articles of incorporation authorize the company to build wharves. railroads and develop water, etc., in addition to the main water, etc., in addition to the main business of sugar making.

In answer to an inquiry, Mr. Capitain said that, should the elements prevent the raising of beets any season, as in the case of drought, it would be provided that the terms of the bond as to the furnishing of beets should not be enforced for that season. The stockholders would in that case simply make no profit for the season. Mr. Denker remarked that beets would grow in this marked that beets would grow in this section with three inches of rain in the section with three inches of rain in the spring by properly preparing the ground. It is a safe crop for a dry year.

After some further explanatory remarks from Mr. Capitain, on motion the meeting unanimously indorsed the cooperative plan of operation.

P. E. Benedict subscribed for ten shares of stock. A committee of five was appointed to get further subscriptions in this section and report on Monday. The members are Messrs. Charanock, Boyer, Stevens, Bryant and Boyer, Stevens, Bryant and Saenz.

Some fine specimens of sugar beets were exhibited, grown by Mr. Benedict up in a canen of the foothills. Beets soil for varied products noted. The journey was then continued to Colegrove, where another meeting was held, presided over by F. J. Moll, and the by-laws were again read.

As to new subscriptions, Mr. Moll reported that in his district most of the residents were small holders, many of them having few trees set out. He had, however, fifty subscribers for sure and about 150 more conditionally. Mr. Denker expected by next Monday to have 500 additional shares subscribed for in his district.

have 500 additional shares subscribed for in his district.

In reply to the inquiry, it was explained that the land would at any time be sold subject to the obligation to raise beets, the shares going with the land. Or the seller might retain his stock and raise his beets on other land, which he might buy or rent.

Mr. Capitain remarked that some of the best sugar results had been obtained the best sugar results had been obtained on white alkali land.

on white alkali land.

I. A. Weid, who has been in Denmark for the past four years, where he planted fifty acres of sugar beets and had them hauled twenty-two miles to a factory, told of his experience there. He had to haul the beets a mile to a railroad station and sold them for $4 a ton. The fifty acres yielded him about $3000 gross, or half that amount net, a year. Beet sugar had pulled the Danish farmers out of the mire, wherever there was a factory, and enabled ever there was a factory, and enabled them to pay off their mortgages. The amount named is merely for growing the beets. The manufacturers of sugar the beets. The manufacturers of sugar make three times as much. The land there has to be manured for every crop—twenty-five loads of good manure per acre—and there are only two months in which to deliver the crop, after which the frost comes and kills, the beets. Instead of a bounty of 2 cents a pound they have to pay the government 3% cents on every pound of sugar. The profit here on raising beets and making sugar could not be less than $150 an acre. There is not an acre from Los

Suppose the men only, of ancient times pretended to be prophets, and each exhibited ive independent circumstances, which must meet in the Messiah, for instance to prove them true prophets, and the truth of His mission. Assuming that there is an equal chance of the happening of any of these fifty particulars, the probabilities against their happening (even at distinct periods.) are 1,125,000,000,000,000 tone. Suppose I can show that 200 years ago an eminent clergyman, aided by the Holy Spirit, read certain prophecies—both from the Old and New Testament—and interpreted, them precisely as I have had in my possession for many years—and have it in Los Angeles—a years—and have it in Los Angeles—a small book of the four sermons of the Rev. Robert Fleming delivered in London in 1698-1700 upon the prophecies, and then published, and a copy placed at that time in the British Museum, where it still remains. It is as completely a fact as the works of Shakspeare or Bacon. It was reprinted in speare or Bacon. It was reprinted in 1794, and in 1848 by the hundred thousand copies, and my book is of the 1848 reprint. It is not worth while to give Mr. Fleming's statements as to the prophecies fulfilled up to that date; but he said that "the Revelation contains the series of all the remarkable events." the series of all the remarkable events and changes of the Christian Church to the end of the world." He said that the fourth vial (Rev. xvi-8) began at or a little after 1643, would run out about the year

When the French monarchy was overthrown and the King guillotined, Mr. Fleming's sermons were republished and read with intense interest. He had said in 1698 that he did not see anything specially notworthy as occurring thing specially noteworthy as occurring in Europe until 1794. He added:

I do further suppose that the fifth vial (Rev. xvi-10-1.1) will begin about the year 1794 and expire about the year 1848. Europe was in arms—the French monarchy overthrown—Germany and Austria in the eve of revolution—Rome occupied and the Pope a fugitive.

Mr. Fleming gave his views that the Turkish Empire, then the terror of combined Europe, and equal to the present power of Russia, must be shattered and broken up as the condition precedent of prophetical fulfillment. He interpreted the war of 1858 as to Turkey and added:

The time spent before in destroying the Turkish Empire and preparations for so universal a war must needs take up a great many years. Supposing then that the Turkish monarchy should be totally destroyed between 1848 and 1900 we may justly assign twenty or thirty years at most to the last vial.

He said there was no use of going further into the future, as he already had done for over 200 years—but expressed his belief that the second advent would come very shortly after the destruction of Turkey.

This was not accident, that Mr. Fleming should so have read these prophecies. It was permitted in order that he might throw light upon the events which Christians were to see at the end of this century.

The most profound thinkers and theologians were those of the seventeenth century, and they deduced from the prophecies very much the same conclusions as to their culmination about clusions as to their culmination about the end of this century, and what the occurrences would be. But just as the great Lick instrument now proves that astronomers by means of smaller telescopes have been led into errors, so these writers from a narrower point of view and without access to the lights which have been increased by occurring facts in each generation, have committed errors as to the application of the prophecy in regard to the antithe prophecy in regard to the anti-Christ and the persecuting power. This was an excusable ignorance when through hundreds of years Rome was the great power of the globe, and the Pope had but to lift his finger for the world to lear the command and obey. When had but to lift his finger for the world to hear the command and obey. When corruption had invaded holy precincts and the Borgias and others wielded the tiara for the grossest vices, crimes and sensualities, and the machinery of the church was employed by the Inquisition to compel obedience and scatter death and destruction throughout Christendom. Under these circumstances it was not astonishing that vast members should depict Rome as the great Babylon, the church as the as the great Babylon, the church as the dragon, and a future Pope as the anti-Christ. Events have proved this to be a delusion, and though the prophecies have correctly portrayed the rise, the power and the acts of the Papacy, they have also shown its downfall, and the course of its successor * It was with power and the acts of the Papacy, they have also shown its downfall, and the course of its successor.* It was with great perplexity that I found myself compelled to differ with the interpretations of great writers, and to satisfy myself conclusively that the Greek Church was to be the great persecuting power, a Russian Car to be the conqueror of the world, as predicted by Daniel, and that the anti-Christ would arise at Constantinople, which is to become the Russian capital, the queen of cities, and the great Babylon of which John wrote. When I was sure of this five years ago I published it, as an utterly distinct and variant reading of the scriptures from those entertained by thousands of previous commentators. The events of each year prove to me more conclusively that this is the correct interpretation. I will show this, and also give what I believe will be the terrible occurrences.

will show this, and also give what leading will be the terrible occurrences in the next decade from the foretold universal war; and the succeeding phys-ical phenomena with their long train of calamity and destruction.

BLANTON DUNCAN. Very truly, *The Pope himself tells the condition of the Papacy by the following telegram:

Rome, Oct. 7.—The Pope has instructed the papal nunclos abroad to present an identical note to the governments to which they are accredited on the recent disorders in Rome on account of the offensive action of a French pilgrim at the tomb of Victor Emmanuel. This note will hold that these disorders are evidences of the insecurity of the papal position in Rome.

BUSINESS.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES, Los Angeles, Oct. 19, 1891.

A New York dispatch received today A New York dispatch received today says that the Commercial Bulletin, referring to the charges in a California agricultural newspaper that Baltimore peaches had been packed under California labels this season, states that peaches have been packed in Baltimore and sent out under so-called California labels, and adds: "Some of the neaches are received. of the peaches are excellent and doubtless hold their own in the contest with the average California goods, but others, according to competent judges, not only fail to come up to the California standard, but do not do do justice to eastern packers, if exhibited do justice to eastern packers, if exhibited as a fair average specimen of their work. Upon careful inquiry facts were elicited going to show that nearly all the Baltimore fruit under California labels, are turned out at the instigation of western dealers; that is to say, those dealers bought the goods unlabeled from the packers and had specially prepared California labels placed on cans. This is really no new western trick. In fact, it is of the chestnut order, but it is one that Californian should be intrick. In fact, it is of the chestnut order, but it is one that Californians should be indignant to be surprised by however, and success should attend their efforts to run down the game. In this connection it may be proper to state that salesmen for eastern jobbers have frequently dropped the hint that they could make a very nice-turn if their principals would condescend to put in eastern peaches under California labels."

sons who came in contact with him, were seeking to injure him in body and property? It will doubtless be observed that the jury let the defendant's interrogatories severely alone for the most part, and as the result of their decision the findings of fact are that Daniel J. Harris was not of sound mind, and therefore inca-pable of transacting business from July 1, 1890, until his death; and that the efendants were not entitled to any the money received from him after that date. At the request of the defense the jury was polled, when it was learned that that body stood 10 to 2, but even the dissentients admitted that they had agreed to part of the majority verdict. The jury fees, which amounted to $360, were paid by the plaintiff, by order of the Court. The findings were then ordered entered, and further proceedings reserved for argument until Monday next.

The result of the jury's deliberations was discussed by citizens of every class and occupation, and was the general topic of conversation about the Courthouse during the day.
